Join the search and help to find areas of old meadows and pasture.

We are looking for areas of old wildflower-rich meadow in eastern Cleveland so we can map and survey them. To be sure of finding them all in a year we need as many people as possible to join in.

Do you know of a patch of grassland where any of the meadow wildflowers shown on this card grow? It might be by a footpath through farmland, a road verge, by a stream, or perhaps somewhere local you remember from your childhood. It might be a small neglected patch of land or a large traditional hay-meadow. We will investigate each sighting and let you know if you have found an old meadow!

Either fill out the postcard and return it to us, or call the Wildflower Ark team on 01642 576611 or email wildflowerark@hotmail.com

More information about the project and photographs on other grassland wildflowers can be found at www.wildflowerark.org.uk

Thank you for helping.

▲ Common Knapweed

▲ Lady's-mantle

▲ Yellow-rattle

▲ Harebell

Meadows, rich in wildflowers (like those shown above) are now an increasingly rare habitat, but where they still exist they form a living connection with the traditional farming methods that helped create the character of our local landscape.
